

AINE-Advanced IP Network Emulator

The license could not be verified: License Certificate has expired!

Summary:

Short Description	AINE is a real time emulation software running as a user process on a Linux based platform, used for performance characterization of communication networks, particularly satellite communication systems, providing IP over Ethernet interfaces to test real applications on the modelled packet networks.
Owner Organization	INDRA Sistemas
Location	Spain
Website	N/A

Key Facts:

Long Description: